New in this release

Added support for category schemes.

Now you have centralized interface to manage configuration of categories per project. Additionally, you can apply the same category scheme to multiple projects at once.

The screenshot shows the Jira Administration interface for 'Category Schemes'. The page title is 'Category Schemes' with a 'Create scheme' button. Below the title, there is a section for 'Active' schemes. A table lists four active schemes, each with columns for Name, Categories, Associated Projects, Last Modified, and Actions. The 'Categories' column lists 'Uncategorized', 'Documents', 'Screenshots', 'Screencasts', and 'Illustrations'. The 'Associated Projects' column lists project names like 'CWAR: Categories with Access Restrictions', 'CWCS: Categories with Category Selector', 'CWDR: Categories with Distribution Rules', and 'CWE: Categories with Everything'. The 'Last Modified' column shows dates and times, and the 'Actions' column shows a three-dot menu. A dropdown menu is open for the 'CWCS' row, showing 'Edit', 'Associate', and 'Copy' options.
